WALES' BLACKMAILERS.

THE SENSATION WHICH MOMENTARILY ECLIPSED HOME RULE.

John Magee, His Wife, and a Sack of Passings—The Prince's Past Miscellaneous Gallantries—In Prison—A Battling Prize-Fight—Foreign Affairs.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—A sensation which for the moment almost eclipsed the Home Rule discussion was turned over by the arrest of two blackmailers who had been threatening to extort £750 from the Prince of Wales by means of threatening letters. The prisoners are John Magee and his wife Sarah, Magee, a shabby, unattractive young man of medium height, with dark hair and moustache. He gave his age as 20 years. His wife is a slender and graceful brunet of 20. She was shabbily dressed, but she is decidedly pretty, and her threadbare garments did not conceal the prettiness of her figure.

It is charged that Mrs. Magee, at the instigation of her husband, wrote two letters addressed to the Prince of Wales, which contained threats and a demand for money. The letter did not reach the prince, but were forwarded by the post office to the Home Office, and came to the police. Both letters mentioned a time and place where the writer promised to await the prince's answer. The police sent a despatch letter to the address given, and received a reply from Scotland Yard, referring to the appointed rendezvous, where they found Mrs. Magee.

The inspectors who were in placid clutches told the young woman that they had been sent to arrest her, and she was prepared to meet them. She handed her a package of copper coins managing to resemble a package of sovereigns. She had no sooner received the package than handcuffs were placed upon her hands and she was led away. She was then brought before the magistrate, according to the inspector's statement in court, she became frightened and told her right name and address, adding that her husband had forced her to write the letters and to come for the money. It is a difficult case to decide whether she is guilty or innocent, but having failed to distribute the excess, no error occurred to the prejudice of plain justice or error or those he represented, the democratic candidate for the several offices.

SAD TRAGEDY.

Two Sisters Have a Fatal Quarrel Over Cheap Pair of Shoes.

PARRISBURG, Va., Dec. 21.—The residents of Halifax street, this city, are Mr. John Williamson, a respectable citizen, who has the family of a widow and two who are two daughters, Susan, aged twenty-three years, and Maggie, aged sixteen years. A few days ago the former expressed a desire for a pair of new shoes and the latter, who was fond of them for their cheapness, consented to give them to her. But having failed to distribute the excess, it is impossible for a saving vessel to learn if the wind and sea are from that quarter.

"At 2 p.m., although the wind was not strong, a large vessel was seen to pass close to our extent eastward at 4 o'clock all steam vessels were forced to slip their cables and go to sea. The first to attempt this was a German steamer, and so great was the force of the waves that she found it impossible to get to sea. Navy boat and life boat were sent to her, but she drifted sideways against the dock of the Royal Mail Packet company, damaging it considerably.

After a time she succeeded in getting into harbor, but the mate was unable to make out what had happened to the ship. The crew became wildly angry at the mate and the words had scarcely been uttered when she assaulted her sister, who was a large brute, striking her on the head and pulling her to the floor in the presence of the mate. The woman was examined by four physicians, who pronounced her to be in a fit condition for the rest of her life, but her condition gives little or no hope for recovery.

MEXICAN ELE. TIONS.

Candidates proposed to the Diaz Regime.

VERACRUZ, Mex., Dec. 21.—The munitions of war in this city, which were held on Sunday, resulted in the selection of candidates friendly to Governor Cesar, and ex-President Gómez. The election for the legislative assembly in this city, which was to occur on Monday, was postponed until the 25th. The municipal officers, except last night, have practically the power to control the February contest. This power will be used against the Diaz administration in securing a legislative majority, and the support of the garrison and senators to the city of Mexico.

It is now a foregone conclusion that this city, the capital of the state, will be the headquarters of the next revolution in Mexico.

Imports prepared for the market, such as sugar, coffee, cotton, tobacco, and cotton goods, are to be sent to the port of Veracruz.

It is now a foregone conclusion that this city, the capital of the state, will be the headquarters of the next revolution in Mexico.

The services of Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the famous martial lawbreaker, who so successfully suppressed the revolution in Coahuila, Sonora, and Nuevo Leon, will probably be required in Tamaulipas as an early date. He possesses peculiar talents, similar to those of his fellow countrymen, and his conduct deserves little or no hope for recovery.

The reporter ventured to suggest that if there were nothing in the letters but such mendacious rubbish as the colonial has been accustomed to, he would not have had the temerity to give them to the public, when the prisoners are examined. The reporter replied promptly and very earnestly, "No; sir; those letters will never be made public.

Mr. Magee was afterwards seen, but reluctantly refused to admit that she wrote the letters or had any knowledge of their contents. The above version of the letters was given to the reporter, as it is the reporter's best knowledge, and he does not know what she did not know. When asked about the confession which the police said she made when arrested she said the confession was untrue and that she had been compelled to make it and that she was then compelled to confess it.

FOR SAFE KEEPING.

Three Alleged Murderers From Floyd County Brought Here and Lodged In Jail.

T. J. May and Thomas R. May, deputy sheriffs of Boyd County assisted by two others Will, Harmon and Harvey May arrived here on the steamer Scott from Cynthiana last evening about 8 o'clock and lodged in our jail, Wm. J. Bates, Miles Bates and George Johnson, three alleged murderers from Floyd County.

The prisoners were brought here for safe keeping. They are charged with killing Mack, Hall and Ab. Little in Floyd County some time last June. In the eight Hall was first shot in the leg, and Little was killed while trying to rescue him. There are four parties charged with the murder, the three named above and one Talt Hall, who is still at large. In a conversation with deputy-sheriff T. J. May this morning the following facts were elicited. After the killing last June the persons implicated in the affair all escaped. A reward of $1500 was offered for their capture. A scheme was fixed up between the two Bates and Johnson and some of their friends to secure this reward. The accused were to surrender themselves to the authorities and then as soon as the reward had been paid they were to be released again. Bates and his brother and Johnson delivered themselves up and were lodged in jail. Some of Little's friends, however, dropped out of the scheme and determined to take the prisoners out and hang them in order to prevent they were brought to Cynthiana last Friday and lodged in the jail at that place. The prisoners' friends suddenly realized that their little scheme was not panning out as they had first intended. The excitement increased. The authorities of Boyd County found they had two things to guard against, a rescuing party composed of the prisoners' friends and a lynching party composed of the friends of the murdered men. The jail at that place was old and not a very strong one, and the County Judge taking all the circumstances into consideration thought best to order the prisoners to be brought here for safe keeping. The officers accordingly boarded the Scotia yesterday morning at 8 o'clock and the accused are now securely lodged in our jail. They will be kept here until the spring term of court when they will be returned to Floyd County for trial. Deputy-sheriff May says that trouble can be expected when the prisoners are taken back to that county.

Fair Notes.

The attendance increases nightly. The admission to the hall is but 10 cents.

The fair is a pleasant place to spend an evening.

Captain Hutchins has commenced work in earnest.

The "boom" will strike the fair tonight when the brass band begins to play.

Captain Thomas A. Davis is untiring in his labors for the success of the meeting.

The managers were all smiling Saturday night. The crowd was large and liberal.

The ladies, both young and old, are indefatigable in their efforts to make a fair a success.

The Monumental Association desire the "substantial citizens" to drop in and see what manner of thing the fair is.

Those who have already attended will hardly recognize the hall-to-night. Thing'ven changed as if by magic.

As an auctioneer, Captain "Jeems" Heflin does well. He was busy Saturday night offering off various articles, both useful and ornamental.

When one is informed that Mr. and Mrs. John H. Dyer, of the European Hotel, have charge of the oyster department they can rest assured that their wants will be well supplied.

Many of the young folks want to have a dance at the fair. The Monumental Association is not opposed to dancing, but they put this question to the young folks: "If you wanted to build a monument to your dead brother, would you give a dance to raise the money?"

FREAKS OF INSANITY.

SON OF A PHILADELPHIA MILLIONAIRE IN BELLEVUE.

After Escaping from an Asylum He Telegraphed to His Father that His Dead Body Could be Found at a Hotel.
"I Am Not Insane; Never Was!"

New York, Dec. 21.—William C. Gatzmer, a wealthy Philadelphian, about forty years old, spent the night in the insane pavilion at Bellevue hospital under Dr. Wildman's care. Gatzmer's father, William, who is the secretary and treasurer of the Philadelphia Gas Company, was also confined in the pavilion in the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and is said to be worth several millions. Mr. Gatzmer is seventy-nine years old. His son, William, who is worth $30,000 in his own right, has been insane at intervals for many years, and has spent most of that time in private asylums.

A little less than two years ago his father, who very fondly and devoutly clung to his son, removed him to a private sanatorium at Tacony, near Philadelphia, where he could visit him frequently. Six weeks ago William managed to escape from the asylum, and disappeared. His father, however, is positive to trace him, and telegraphed to San Francisco for Dr. Frank H. Thomas, who had been the family physician for years, and Dr. Thomas came on here and joined in the search.

On Friday last this telegram, dated New York, was received by old Mr. Gatzmer: "You will find my dead body at the Morton house."

Dr. Thomas came to this city with an attendant from the asylum, and found that Gatzmer was not at that hotel. Thomas Harley, bookkeeper for the Herrmann hardware in West Eighteenth street, an old friend of Gatzmer, was seen and instructed to detain Gatzmer should he call on him.

Dr. Thomas, however, was at an instant called at Phelan's hotel and saw Gatzmer, who did not seem pleased to see him. The doctor tried to persuade him to return to Philadelphia, but he refused. Policeman Kelly of the Manhattan police, who lives in the house, was called in, but in sight of the uniform infatuated Gatzmer.

Three men and Drs. Roof and Quinalan, who had been sent for, talked to him for an hour before he agreed to leave the hotel.

A carriage was sent for him, but he got to the door Gatzmer refused to enter it, but agreed to walk to the Mercer street station with Kelly. Dr. Thomas followed them. When brought before Sergeant Douglass in the station house, Gatzmer was asked to appear as sane as any one present. Dr. Thomas asked the sergeant to put Gatzmer in his care, and he returned to Philadelphia.

"I am not insane," Gatzmer said calmly.

"I am not insane. I never was insane; have been bounded by doctors for ten years."

Then he took the sergeant to one side and repeated his assurances that he was sane.

"In heaven," he said, "they can't take me out of the state without another from a court of law."

I will go anywhere in the city you suggest, but not to Philadelphia."

There was some in this. Douglass suggested that Gatzmer be detained at the station house. Dr. Thomas interceded to have him in a hospital. The St. Vincent ambulance would not take him, as they have no accommodations for insane patients. He was finally taken to Bellevue. Dr. Thomas will probably take him to Takony.

GOING GLIMMERING.

The St. Louis Stationery and Book Company Fails for $150,000.

St. Louis, Dec. 21.—The St. Louis stationery and book company has confessed judgment to favor of Hugh R. Hiltreth, for $150,000. The firm, which is engaged in a heavy starch business in St. Louis, filed a claim for loans and salary. An order of sale was issued and the sheriff took possession of the company's store, Nos. 407 and 408, on Market street.

Later on Mr. Linsley and the Mechanics bank commenced attachment suits, the former for $12,500 and the latter for $10,500 against this company and Mr. Hiltreth, for whom the firm was executed by lawyers, real estate and other stores. The liabilities of the company are stated to be $150,000, and the assets $20,000. Mr. Hiltreth says the above action was taken in consequence of false reports having been circulated against the firm, which in turn led to demands being made on them by various eastern houses for immediate payment of obligations, although the firm claim they have not a dollar of paper maturing this year.
